Greetings, I hope you are all having a wonderful day. In our next episode of youth shout-outs, I would like for you who are reading to take a moment to get to know another young man of outstanding value. It is my delight to introduce Mr. Kenneth Neal Rowlett Jr. Who we here simply know as Neal. This guy means the world to us at Somerville and we are incredibly happy that he and his family are worshipping alongside our congregation. Son to Beth and Kenneth Rowlett, Neal and his family have been attending Somerville a little longer than Bryn and myself, which I believe is just over two years now. Neal has been an active participant in all things youth related since the day I met him. With an unofficial working title of "assistant to-the-regional Youth Minister," Neal has assisted me greatly in almost everything he has been involved in. Regularly I find him sitting on my living room couch chatting with me about some aspect of the goings-on of youth activity that can be improved upon. His friendship and company are invaluable to me and I know that he is going to continue to grow into a force to be reckoned with inside the Church.

Neal is currently attending his sophomore year of high school at Fayette Academy and is highly motivated to succeed in his academic pursuits. On top of that, he participates in several extracurricular activities which include track, basketball, and robotics. On that note, it is my understanding that Neal is quite a proficient runner and overall athlete. I have seen him run on several occasions and it is apparent to me that he is one of the best athletes on the track and field team. Also, with someone as intelligent as Neal, it is not a surprise to me that he is involved in a more technical activity such as robotics. Neal and his school's new robotics team just returned from a large competition in which their engineered machine bots fought against some of our country's most proficient robotics teams. The result was nothing short of incredible. In large part due to Neal's diligent planning, his team was able to strategically pull off tactically coordinated maneuvers which won them "rookie team of the year." It seems that whatever this guy works on he excels in and outperforms expectations. He has a sharp mind, a humble attitude, and is always looking to learn (Which is why I have to brag about him). I believe what I admire most about Neal are the times he has shown me how seriously he takes spiritual matters. He is surrounded by peers in the world who constantly make poor spiritual and physical decisions with their bodies, their minds, and their habits. Neal has had to make many choices already in his life pertaining to who he will be as a person. These choices I believe define who he will be in the future, a godly man who stands for what is right. In fact, a verse that comes to mind when I think about Neal is what was said of King David "the LORD hath sought him a man after his own heart..." 1 Sam 13:14. I know the future of the Church is looking bright because we have youth men and women who choose to do what is godly and shun those things which are wicked. Please encourage Neal as he lives the Christian life and follows in the footsteps of Jesus.
