

Somerville Church of Christ Welcomes You!

April 9, 2023

As we continue down our list of introductions of extraordinary young individuals we come to another gem of a person. This week we get a glimpse into the life of the very special Addison McNabb. As most of you well know, Addison, who is now 15, grew up attending this congregation. The Church has been a home to her and she considers it a place of safety, love, and community which she holds near and dear to her heart. Personally, I have only been able to witness two years of her life, but in that short time, I have seen a young girl begin her journey into adulthood, and the world beyond, with what can only be described as determined. This girls got some drive. I don't think I know anyone who has as much determination and enthusiasm as our young Addison. While currently attending Fayette Academy, she is almost done with her 9th-grade year and first year of high school. She is absolutely excelling academically with a high GPA and a burgeoning extracurricular schedule to boot. Some of her interests can be summarized in this "very short" list: Basketball player, soccer player, performing arts participant, guitar aficionado, ecology club's president of recycling, youth group vice president and overall rockstar, and a job working with young gymnasts. Where she finds the time for this extra madness, the world may never know, but it is nonetheless impressive and demonstrative of her work ethic. She hopes to one day become either a Juvinial Phycologist or a Dental Hygienist and wants to attend either Freed Hardeman University or Union University. With everything she has going on now, I believe she will have no problem becoming whatever she chooses. One of her favorite pastimes is spending time with her friends. She is a "people person" in the truest sense of the phrase and derives much enjoyment from being around those she loves. Something she is currently proud of is the fact that she gets to work with little children at the gymnastics studio in Somerville. It is a part-time job, but she is able to put her heart and soul into the work and brighten up people's lives. In 5 years' time, she hopes to be long done with high school, attending college, and looking towards marriage. Addison plans to one day have a loving husband who fears God, loves his family, knows how to farm, and is also interested in being a dad. Though she may only be 15 years old, Addison is an outstanding young lady who has nothing but green lights ahead of her. It is a joy to know her and grow with her and we are all better off for knowing people like her. Please take a moment to encourage and fill her with love as she can always use a pick-me-up from her Church family.
