Somerville Church of Christ Welcomes You!

Last Words

During the course of our lives, we say many things. Some of those things bear more weight than others depending on the situations surrounding them. For example, if we knew that we would never see some people again due to distance or death, we would think very hard about our final words to them. Paul had some final words that he wrote to his young protege, Timothy, and we should look at them carefully, because Paul knew that he would die soon after writing them.

Paul said, "But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry" (2 Timothy 4:5). After saying these words, Paul gives the reason: "For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand" (4:6). Paul could no longer give advice to Timothy; he could no longer encourage him, or help him, or offer him wisdom.

So Timothy had to become the watchful one, looking for trouble wherever he went and preaching against error. Timothy had to stand strong even when things got difficult. With Paul there, Timothy could rely on him to help him through when trouble came, but now he had to stand without Paul. Timothy had to work hard spreading the gospel (2 Timothy 4:2) and teaching others to spread the gospel like Paul had done for him (2 Timothy 2:2). And finally, Timothy had to fulfill his ministry, or do everything that he needed to do as a minister. Paul instructed Timothy well; now he had to serve to his full capacity.
